IBB IN ACTION

GUANCHEN "GRAYSON" XIE

MS QUANTITATIVE FINANCE CANDIDATE

The IBB program helped me in two very specific ways. The first was that by being in New York early, I was able to easily explore my options for a future master's program on the ground versus being back home. I had plenty of time to do that both at Fordham and at other schools.

Secondly, IBB was a great help in preparing me for what was to come. Master's-level study requires a high degree of understanding of technical terms as well as specific lingo in English. This was a big plus for the program, along with having the space to better adapt to American teaching styles and to network with my classmates and students school-wide.

MARINA LELLIS

CURRENT IBB STUDENT AND FUTURE MS STUDENT

IBB has been an amazing discovery for me. It has benefited me in several ways, but what stands out the most is the quality of the courses. They have really helped me to be better prepared for my business future. I see myself now armed with the tools necessary to pursue a master's program with a deeper knowledge of English and the American culture. I also view my professional career to be directly enhanced by my international exposure.
